

A kid is walking down the hall at school carrying books when a bully knocks them out of his hand, laughs and keeps going.

How should the first kid show love to the bully?

A kid is getting ready to enjoy a popsicle when his little sibling comes running by and knocks it onto the ground.

How should the kid respond to his sibling?

A kid is sitting in the lunch room while a couple of others are sitting at a table not too far away, talking about her.

How should the first kid respond to the mean kids?

Two kids are having a conversation. One kid brings up Jesus, and the second kid says Jesus is not real. He says he believes in Allah.

How should the first kid respond?